INSURER PAYMENT GAP

$93,624

What your insurers' contracted rates fall short of the local 75th percentile. A separate measure from the headline; don't add the two.

> What this report tells you.
>
> For every code on your fee schedule, we compare what you charge (and what your carriers pay) against the UCR distribution for 02446. Codes paid above the 75th percentile are doing well. Codes below are leaving revenue on the table. The next sections rank where to focus your renegotiation effort.

SECTION 1 · PERCENTILE RANK

Where each fee sits in your ZIP.

Each bar shows your master fee's percentile rank against the local UCR distribution. The vertical line marks the 75th percentile. Fees to the left of the line are below market.

Headline based on master fee gap to UCR p75. Carrier figures use contracted rates, volume split evenly across carriers.

SECTION 2 · TOP 10 BY IMPACT

The codes where the gap costs you the most.

Sorted by annual gap: UCR p75 minus your fee, times annual volume (the same figure as the code-by-code table). Together these 10 codes are $46,313 of your $67,651 annual underpayment. Start your fee review with them.

How to use this.

Start with the lowest-grade, highest-volume carrier. On each code where they pay well under p75, ask for the published UCR rate, using any carrier already paying more on that code as your anchor.

SECTION · OPPORTUNITY BY CATEGORY

Opportunity by procedure category.

Recoverable revenue as a share of each category's annual production.

METHODOLOGY

How the numbers were calculated.

UCR (usual, customary, and reasonable) benchmarks are resolved at the most specific geo level available. The first level is your ZIP code: a national benchmark adjusted by a ZIP-level geographic factor. After that come your three-digit ZIP area, metro, state, region, and national. A level is used only when its benchmark rests on at least 30 fees; otherwise the code falls through to the next level. The ZIP-level figure carries the sample size of the national benchmark it is built from. Where the benchmark source does not publish a 75th percentile, we estimate it as the midpoint of its published 70th and 80th percentiles.

For each code on your master fee schedule we compute the gap to the local 75th percentile, clamped at zero (codes where you are paid above p75 contribute nothing to recoverable totals). Per-carrier gaps use the carrier's contracted rate for that specific code. We never assume the master fee applies when a carrier-specific rate is missing -- those codes are excluded from that carrier's totals.

Annual recoverable is the per-code gap multiplied by your annual frequency for that code (sourced from your PMS export). The headline is the sum of your own fee's gap to p75 across codes; the per-code clamp is never applied at the aggregate level. Carrier totals use contracted rates instead. We do not know your payer mix, so each code's volume is split evenly across the carriers that list a rate for it.

WORKED EXAMPLE · D1110

Procedure: Prophylaxis, adult

Your master fee for D1110	$98
UCR 50th percentile (metro level)	$95
UCR 75th percentile (target)	$115
UCR 90th percentile	$132

WORST-PAYING CARRIER ON THIS CODE: CIGNA

Annual recoverable from Cigna	$1,648

APPENDIX · CODE-BY-CODE

Every code on your master schedule.

Confidence reflects the geo level used for the benchmark. High confidence = your ZIP, 3-digit ZIP area, or metro. Medium = state. Low = region or national. No-data codes are flagged and excluded from dollar totals. Annual = UCR p75 minus your fee, times annual volume. The column adds up to the annual underpayment on the cover.
